

Prof. Daniele De Luca received his MD license from the Catholic University of the Sacred Heart in Rome, Italy in 2001. Prof. De Luca completed his Master's degrees at the same university in Paediatric Emergencies in 2003 and Neonatal Pulmonology in 2005. He received a Fellowship in Paediatrics and Neonatal Critical Care from the same university in 2007. Prof. De Luca is now the Medical Director of the Division of Paediatrics and Neonatal Critical Care and Associate Professor at South Paris University, "A.Beclere" Medical Centre, in Paris, France. He is also the Contract Affiliate Professor of Neonatal and Paediatric Critical Care Catholic University of the Sacred Heart in Rome, Italy.

Prof. De Luca has published more than 100 papers for journals with an impact factor > 200, an H-Index of 16, and has been a referee for several major paediatric and general journals. He has been a referee for international grants and research quality programs in Canada, France, Italy, Netherlands, Germany and South Africa. Prof. De Luca is the Deputy Chair, Respiratory Section, European Society for Paediatric and Neonatal Intensive Care (ESPNIC), Scientific Content manager and Officer for accreditation at the European Society for Pediatric Research (ESPR).