

Prof. Dr. Kypros Herodotou Nicolaides

United Kingdom

Professor of Fetal Medicine, King's College, London,
Professor of Fetal Medicine, University College, London

Professor Kypros Nicolaides, a world renowned fetal medicine expert, was born in Cyprus, completed his medical studies at King's College Hospital, London University in 1978. At present he is Professor of fetal medicine at King's College and University College, London.

Professor Nicolaides has received several distinguished awards, including the Ian Donald Gold Award for Highest Contribution in Ultrasound of the International Society Ultrasound in Obstetrics & Gynecology, the Eric Saling Award for Highest Scientific Contribution in Perinatal Medicine of the World Association of Perinatal Medicine and Excellence in Letters, Culture and Science of the Government of Cyprus. He is an honorary Fellow of the American Institute of Ultrasound in Medicine, Member of the International Academy of Perinatal Medicine and Honorary Doctor in Medicine at the Universities of Amsterdam (Netherlands), Athens and Ioannina (Greece), Bucharest (Romania), Jinan (China), Olomouc (Czech Republic) and Warsaw (Poland). Prof. Nicolaides is member of the EFCNI Scientific Advisory Board.

Prof. Nicolaides has published an amazing number of 1,161 peer review papers in scientific journals on aspects of fetal diagnosis and therapy and has edited and written several books. He introduced internet based courses for health care professionals and patients in 20 languages. Prof. Nicolaides provided training in fetal medicine to more than 500 doctors from 50 countries. He is Founder and Chairman of the Fetal Medicine Foundation, aiming to promote research and training in fetal medicine throughout the world.