

Montse Palacio is Senior Consultant at the Maternal-Fetal Medicine Department of Hospital Clínic of Barcelona where she works since 2001. She holds a PhD degree in Medicine, and is Associate Professor at the University of Barcelona. She was awarded with a Fellowship for a subspecialization in Maternal-Fetal Medicine at the University College of London by “La Caixa”. Being responsible for the Obstetric and High Risk Obstetrics Hospitalization Units, she created in 2006 the Prematurity Unit for the management of women at risk of preterm birth which has become her field of expertise and research. She has been awarded twice with the "Award of Research Excellence" at the Society for Maternal-Fetal Medicine (SMFM) and she has published papers in international and national journals. She also participates regularly as invited speaker at workshops and congresses.